

Daddy-Daughter Dance

Deadline: Saturday, May 13th

What is it?

The Daddy-Daughter Dance is a routine performed in the actual recital. The Dads and the Daughters will practice several times before the show, and then get to make their debut together at the recital. They will have one part to do together, and one part just for the Dads! Don't be afraid, you'll have a blast performing in this long-standing APA tradition!

Who can do it?

Anybody! All dancers are eligible to ask their Dads to dance, not just the little ones. Moms can also join in too, if Dad's not available-as long as you have a good sense of humor... (Uncles, Grandpas, and Brothers are also acceptable!)

What's involved?

There are 8 practices plus the rehearsal at the theater. You are only required to attend as many as you need to feel comfortable on stage.

What's it cost?
show

$60 (per dad, not student). This includes all 8 practices plus dress rehearsal before the show and a commemorative APA t-shirt. You don't have to come to all of them, just enough to make you feel comfortable with the routine. There will be a practice video emailed to help you too.

Costume?

Don't worry, no tutus (I promise this year!). The day of the show, you'll wear pants or shorts (TBA) and your special Daddy-Daughter Dance commemorative t-shirt. Wear comfy clothes and sneakers to practices. You'll sweat, I promise.

When are the practices?

Saturday practices are for Dads and Daughters! Thursdays are for Dads ONLY!
